LIST

Note on the list

This list, which is meant for internal use only consists of photocopies from: 'Archives of the British Labour Party 1873-1973: a detailed guide to the microform collections' (Reading 1990), published by Research Publications. For more information, please consult the guide itself which is available from the IISH library (call no. bib E 115).

Note on requests

On request forms, please ask for the handwritten numbers in the list.

Note on arrangement

Part 5 contains the first section of the subject files and is in effect a continuation of the General correspondence which appears in parts 1 and 2. When in 1907, the Labour Party radically reorganized its filing system from a chronological arrangement to a subject file system, the subject files were divided into sections, each section being called a 'volume'. Inevitably subject files have a widely disparate range of dates.
