Contents

List of Figures vii
List of Tables viii
List of Contributors xi
Acknowledgements xii
List of Abbreviations xiii

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF CAREERS AND THEIR HISTORY

1. The History of the Modern Career: An Introduction
   John Brown, Marco van H.D. Leeuwen, and David Mitch
   3

2. An Economic Perspective on Career Formation
   Laura J. Owen
   42

3. The Use of Event-History-Analysis in Career Research
   Ineke Maas
   56

PART I: THE CREATION OF FORMAL AND INFORMAL STRUCTURES

4. Constructing the Modern Career, 1840-1940
   Andrew Miles and Mike Savage
   79

   Haia Shpayer-Makov
   101

6. Trade Unions and Employment Stability at the Canadian Pacific Railway, 1903-29
   Mary MacKinnon
   126

   Susan Eleanor Hirsch and Janice L. Reiff
   145
PART II: THE INFLUENCE OF GENDER

9  Small Business, Self-Employment and Women’s Work-Life Choices in Nineteenth Century London
   Alison Kay 191

10  The Careers of Female Graduates of Cambridge University, 1920s-1970s
    Pat Thane 207

PART III: THE INFLUENCE OF INDUSTRIALIZATION AND ECONOMIC MODERNIZATION

11  Occupational Careers of the Total Male Labour Force during Industrialization: the Example of Nineteenth-century Sweden
    Ineke Maas and Marco H.D. van Leeuwen 229

12  Working Class Careers: On-the-Job Experience and Career Formation in Munich, 1895-1910
    John C. Brown and Gerhard Neumeier 261

13  Agricultural Labour as a Career: Norfolk Farm Workers in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries
    David Mitch 281

14  Factory Work and arrangiarsi alla canesca. Professional Careers of the Saffat’s Steelworkers from 1900 to ’29 Crisis
    Paolo Raspadori 305

15  Career Patterns in the British Chemical Profession during the Twentieth Century
    Robin Mackie and Gerrylynn K. Roberts 319

Index 339
List of Figures

Figure 4.1 Promotion rates to managerial positions among bank clerks who joined Lloyds between 1890-1934 93
Figure 4.2 Promotion rates and destinations among male sorters joining the Post Office between 1800-1900 94
Figure 4.3 Promotion rates and destinations among postmen joining the Post Office between 1800 and 1910 95
Figure 4.4 Time to promotion to engine driver on the GWR, 1850-1919 96
Figure 5.1 Total strength and the rate of turnover in the Metropolitan Police, 1863-1913 110
Figure 11.1 Occupational information rate by age 236
Figure 11.2 Total five-year career mobility by period 239
Figure 11.3 Upward, downward, and lateral career mobility by period, and the percentage of in-migrants in the population 241
Figure 11.4 Career mobility by period: in-migrants versus the stable population 244
Figure 11.5 Total five-year career mobility by age 246
Figure 11.6 Upward, downward, and lateral career mobility by age 247
Figure 11.7 Class distribution by age 248
Figure 11.8 Upward, downward, and lateral mobility by age – before and after taking the class distribution into account 249
Figure 11.9 Upward, downward, and lateral career mobility by age and period 251
Figure 13.1 John Riches – Age-wage profile between 1859 and 1911 293
Figure 13.2 Aaron Neave – Age-wage Profiles 1866 to 1899 293
Figure 13.3 Charles Riches – Age-wage Profile 1880 to 1938 294
Figure 13.4 John Riches – Days worked per week 1859-1864 297
Figure 13.5 Charles Riches – Days worked per week, 1937-38 298
Figure 15.1 Annual admissions to the three principal British chemical societies 324
Figure 15.2 Annual membership of the three principal British chemical societies 325
Figure 15.3 Career patterns related to career success 332
Figure 15.4 Career patterns related to career success disaggregated by sector 333
List of Tables

Table 4.1 Career mobility of particular categories of employee in the three case-study organizations 90
Table 4.2 Social origins (by class of father) of particular categories of employee in the three case-study organizations 91
Table 5.1 Length of service to promotion in years, 1889-1895 117
Table 6.1 Characteristics of the Mechanical Department Workforce 128
Table 6.2 Characteristics of CPR Mechanical Department workers, 30 September 1908 133
Table 7.1 Workers by period hired and propensity to quit and return 151
Table 7.2 Percentage of workers who struck in 1922 by skill level of job 152
Table 7.3 Helpers and unskilled workers by period of hire 153
Table 7.4 Skilled workers by period of hire 154
Table 7.5 Upwardly mobile workers in the 1920s by race and shop 155
Table 7.6 Tenure and reasons for leaving: Helpers hired in the 1920s 156
Table 7.7 Percentage of workers who left employ by period of leaving and reason 158
Table 7.8 Regression equations: Correlates of quitting rather than leaving for other reasons at the Chicago shop 160
Table 8.1 Composition of the workforce by level of skill and craft 177
Table 8.2 Promotions to supervisory categories 179
Table 8.3 The distribution of job tenures from 1901 to 1930 180
Table 8.4 Some cases of job tenures from 1901 to 1949 181
Table 8.5 Labour career of Enrique Bértola 182
Table 9.1 Comparison by gender of London Sun Fire policies covering business assets 198
Table 9.2 Distribution of Sun Fire policies covering business assets by sector 199
Tables 9.3 Age by marital status of female policyholders linked in the 1851 census 202
Table 10.1 Percentage of women ever marrying 213
Table 10.2 Median age of women at first marriage 214
Table 10.3 Average completed family size 215
Table 11.1 Changes in the occupational structure of the Sundsvall region 238
Table 11A.1 Five-year mobility tables by period 256
Table 11B.1 Five-year mobility tables by age 257
Table 11C.1 Five-year mobility tables by age and period 258
Table 12.1 Classifying Munich workers by industry-to-industry mobility 269
Table 12.2 Results of hazard analysis 273
Table 12.3 Occupational mobility among migrants to Munich 275
Table 12.4 Estimating the impact of a career path on mobility and earnings 277
Table 13.1 Occupational origins of Norfolk bridegrooms, who reported agricultural labour occupations in the 1851 and 1881 censuses 284
Table 13.2 Occupational mobility between marriage and subsequent censuses for those who were labourers at marriage in sample of Norfolk parishes 287
Table 13.3 Occupational mobility between marriage and census for labourers and were labourers at marriage who were sons of labourers according to signature ability 288
Table 13.4 Occupational mobility between marriage 1867-74 and 1881 census for those who were labourers at marriage who were sons of labourers 288
Table 13.5 Geographic persistence for two time periods according to occupational mobility between marriage and census 290
Table 13.6 Geographic persistence after marriage for ‘movers’ and ‘stayers’ 291
Table 13.7 Longer-term employment of Old Hall farm, Belaugh for select years between 1862 and 1938 297
Table 13.8 Length of attachment of farm workers to the Old Hall, Belaugh Farm 298
Table 13.9 Coefficient of variation in the weekly wage bill for select years and periods, Old Hall Farm, Belaugh 300
Table 14.1 Distribution of the Saffat’s newly hired by place of birth and length of tenure, from 1904 to 1914 and from 1929 to 1933 308
Table 14.2 Job mobility, at 20 and 30 years from the entry, of the Saffat’s workers of long tenure 310
Table 14.3 Upward job mobility, at 20 and 30 years from the entry, of the Saffat’s workers of long tenure 311
Table 14.4 Trades of 731 ex-workers of the Saffat in 1921 313
Table 14.5 Residences of the Saffat’s workers of short and long tenure 314
Table 14.6 Distribution of the Saffat’s workers for the sizes of their landed properties in 1914 and 1925 314
Table 15.1 Mobility: number of sectors worked 326
Table 15.2 Mobility: distribution of chemists’ posts among sectors 327
Table 15.3 Stability: employment patterns of chemists with stable careers 328
Table 15.4 Stability: distribution of chemists working twenty years with one employer as percent of all chemists employed in sector 329
Table 15.5 Career success: highest rank attained 330
Table 15.6 Career success: high ranks attained in sector 330
Table 15.7 Career patterns 331
List of Contributors

Silvia Badoza is affiliated with the National Council for Scientific and Technical Research in the Study Program on Economic and Social American History, Institute of Argentine and American History ‘Dr. Emilio Ravignani’ University of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

John Brown is Associate Professor of Economics, Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, U.S.A.

Susan Hirsch is Professor of History at Loyola University, Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A.

Alison C. Kay has recently been awarded her D.Phil. from Oxford University where she held a Nuffield College Studentship.

Marco H.D. van Leeuwen is Senior Researcher at the International Institute for Social History, Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Ineke Maas is Associate Professor, Department of Sociology/ICS, Utrecht University, the Netherlands.

Robin Mackie is Staff Tutor, Department of History, Faculty of Arts, The Open University, U.K.

Mary MacKinnon is Associate Professor of Economics, McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

Andrew Miles is a Fellow of the Centre for Census and Survey Research at the University of Manchester. He was formerly Senior Lecturer, Department of Modern Social History, University of Birmingham, U.K.

David Mitch is Associate Professor of Economics, University of Maryland Baltimore County, U.S.A.

Gerhard Neumeier is affiliated with the Institute of Sociology, University of Heidelberg, Germany.

Laura Owen is Associate Professor of Economics, Depaul University, Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A.

Paolo Raspadori is Professor of Italian Language and History, Instituto Professionale per I Servizi Commerciali, L’industria e l’artigianato ‘E Orfini’ – Foligno (PG) Italy.

Janice L. Reiff is Associate Professor of History, University of California Los Angeles, U.S.A.

Gerrylyn Roberts is Senior Lecturer and Head of Department, Department of History of Science, Technology, and Medicine, Faculty of Arts, The Open University, U.K.

Mike Savage is Professor of Sociology, University of Manchester, U.K.

Haia Shpayer-Makov is Professor, Department of General History, University of Haifa, Israel.

Pat Thane is Leverhulme Professor of Contemporary British History, Institute of Historical Research, University of London, U.K.
Acknowledgements

Initial versions of most of the papers in this volume were presented at the Luxembourg Conference on Employment Security and Career Mobility in Historical Perspective in June of 2001. This conference was funded with generous support from The Henry Leir Center in Luxembourg of Clark University, USA. The Camera Ready Copy of this manuscript was prepared by Bingling Kong. His considerable competence and efficiency made completing this task considerably easier than it would have been otherwise. Funding for his work on this project by the Department of Economics, University of Maryland Baltimore County is gratefully acknowledged.
List of Abbreviations

The following abbreviations are employed in the chapters given below.

Chapter 4
GWR  Great Western Railway

Chapter 5
MEPO  Metropolitan Police Archive
PR  Police Review
PSA  Police Service Advertiser

Chapter 6
ASE  Amalgamated Society of Engineers
BJ  Blacksmith Journal
CNR  Canadian National Railway
CPR  Canadian Pacific Railway
CRMW  Canadian Railway and Marine World
GTR  Grand Trunk Railway
IAM  International Association of machinists
IDIA  Industrial Disputes Investigation Act
LG  Labour Gazette
MDS  Montreal Daily Star
MG  Montreal Gazette
REP  Railway Employers Department, the American Federation Labour
RME  Railway Mechanical Engineer
USRA  U.S. Railway Administration

Chapter 9
EWJ  English Woman’s Journal

Chapter 15
CS  Chemical Society
IC  Institute of Chemistry
SCI  Society of Chemical Industry